

FARMER ENACTS MOCK WELCOME FOR OFFICERS

Then Sheriff Really Comes and Captures Big Still on the Canadian.

WHISKEY DISCOVERED

Three Men Are Held Today on Liquor Charge As Result of Raid.

Five minutes before they were captured, shortly after midnight last night, three men, held today in the county jail on liquor charges, enacted in fun an imaginary raid on the still which they were alleged to have been running.

This they confessed in the "wee sma hours" last night to Sheriff Bob Duncan as county officers drove merrily back to Ada with their trio of suspected whiskey makers. Today the three men are being held here and charges of violating the Volstead Act were pending. While coming to jail they entertained officers with a humorous narrative of how one of the three had, while officers were creeping silently and unnoticed upon the still, carried out a mock reception for Bob Duncan after one of his two companions had casually mentioned that officer's name.

"How do you do, Mr. Duncan," the actor is said to have inquired, bowing to an imaginary form. A few minutes later the original Bob stalked into the firelight and made arrest a reality.

Off on "Still Hunt" Shortly after midnight last night, Sheriff Bob Duncan and Deputies Byars Chapman and Henry Whitson left Ada on their "still hunt." A mile and a half west of Maxwell, in the bed of the Canadian river, a bright fire was sighted. The sheriff's force separated and crept upon the camp stealthily. Three farmers were seated near the fire tending a "giant" copper still, which is said to be the largest captured here in recent months. It had a "double-couple" worm.

When the arrest was made, a team standing nearby hitched to a wagon, is said to have bolted and overturned the wagon. Several gallons of whiskey were captured.

Lloyd Glen, John Hilton and Henry Cloor, farmers, are being held in connection with the raid. They are said to live south of Maxwell.

HARDING STOPS WORK ON SHIPS FOR JUNK HEAP

(By the Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—President Harding will order suspended all work on vessels now building which are destined for the scrap heap under the naval treaty, but will issue no final order for discontinuance of the work until the treaty is actually ratified, it was said today at the White House.

The president, it was stated, already had ordered work suspended on additional fortifications on the island of Guam and likewise further developments under way in the Philippines, taking this action in view of the clause of the naval treaty of the "status quo" for those Pacific Islands of the United States.

The treaties resulting from the arms conference, it was said at the White House, are expected to be sent to the senate the last of this week, although this will depend on the submitting of the report of the American delegates to the president. Mr. Harding, it was said, had not decided when he will present the treaty, and whether in person or by letter.

The president was represented of the belief that some reduction in the personnel of the army would result from the armament agreement but of "reasonable relativity."

The navy in his opinion, it was said, should not go below 80,000 men, the minimum for safety.

Bonus Bill To Cost $2,500,000,000 Is the Official Estimate

(By the Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—The soldier bonus would cost the government approximately $2,500,000,000 on the basis of estimates presented to the house ways and means committee by fiscal officers of the army, navy, and marine corps.

This total is prepared upon the assumption that 50 percent of the men who served with the army and 75 percent who saw service with the navy and marine corps, will take cash.

American Legion officials estimated that not more than half of the army men would elect to take the cash bonus.

King George Urges That Irish Treaty Be Made Effective

(By the Associated Press)

LONDON, Feb. 7.—The Imperial Parliament, which was dismissed December 19 to await action on the Irish treaty by the Dail Eireann, was opened today with the reading of the speech from the throne by King George.

Regarding the Irish treaty the king said parliament will be called upon to consider "ways and means as may be necessary to give effect to the agreement." He also touched upon the negotiations for a pact with France to guarantee action in the event of an unprovoked attack by Germany, and paid high tribute to the accomplishments of the Washington conference.

Absent From Parliament. LONDON, Feb. 7.—The critical stage which the Irish negotiations have reached prevented Lloyd George and Austin Chandler, governor-general in the house of commons, from attending the opening of parliament today.

Arthur Griffith, president of the Dail Eireann, was in conference with the Prime Minister and Mr. Chandler at the minister's residence while the Royal procession was passing through White Hall.

COST OF BONUS BILL STUMPING SENATE GROUPS

(By the Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—The problem of selecting revenue sources to defray the cost of a soldier bonus measure rested today in the hands of the majority members of the ways and means committee and the senate finance committee.

The two committees at a White House conference late yesterday that whatever bonus bill was enacted should carry a revenue provision. President Harding joined in an agreement that they should confer jointly on the question of how the revenue should be raised, with the understanding that when a decision was reached it should be submitted to the president.

Stars of Film World Unite in Thrilling Hunt For Slayer of William Desmond Taylor, Movie Director

William Desmond Taylor.

Mary Miles Minter.

Douglas McLean.

Edna Purviance.

INCENSED at the tragic fate of William Desmond Taylor, prominent motion picture director, who was shot down in his Los Angeles home, many film stars are aiding the police in trying to establish a motive of the crime and to run down the slayer.

Taylor was shot through the heart while at his desk. A negro servant found him on arriving in the morning to clean the bungalow. He had been consulting with movie stars the night before and it was believed that he was shot after they left. Edna Purviance, leading lady for Charles Chaplin, and Douglas MacLean and Mrs. MacLean have given the police important information. Mrs. MacLean has said she saw the stranger hasten from the Taylor home that night. Miss Purviance has said that a light burned in Taylor's home at midnight when she returned to her home.

Mary Miles Minter, who was formerly directed by Taylor, has also offered her help to the authorities. Mabel Norman, star of "Mickey" and other well known productions, had discussed a new production with Taylor at his home early in the evening of the fatal night.

FOUR KILLED IN RICHMOND FIRE

Many Others Hurt When Flames Destroy Hotel; 28 Are Missing.

(By the Associated Press)

RICHMOND, Va., Feb. 7.—Three persons are known to be dead, and at least 25 injured in a fire here early today which destroyed the Lexington Hotel and several adjoining buildings with a loss estimated at $150,000.

A wall at the fire escape collapsed and is believed to have entombed several persons. Many were badly injured when they jumped from windows.

Police believe the death toll will reach between 15 and 20 persons. "I was at the desk when I saw the smoke and fire creeping up the fire escape," said R. E. Ray, clerk of the hotel. "I grabbed the telephone but it was out of order. I told the boy to get up and notify as many of the guests as had not been awakened. The heat was intense and I do not know whether he was able to arouse them all. When I got back from turning in the alarm, the flames were roaring up the elevator shaft."

"It seemed that few sought the fire escapes. Most of the women appeared at the windows and several of the guests jumped. I do not know how many were injured but I think there were a great many."

"There were 72 guests in the hotel last night."

RICHMOND, Va., Feb. 7.—At least four persons are dead and several are reported injured as the result of a fire which early today destroyed the Lexington Hotel and several adjoining structures at Twelfth and Main streets.

Two of the dead are M. J. Fox of Williamsport, Pa., neck broken, and Hiram F. Austin, Fincastle, Va., who died on the way to a hospital. J. M. Thomas, sheriff of Albemarle county Virginia, was also reported dead.

"I Love You, I Love You" Is Import of Note Mary Sent Once to Slain Movie Boss

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 7.—A sweet scented note dropped from one of William Desmond Taylor's books while police detectives were making an examination today of the effects of the slain movie director according to the Los Angeles Examiner. It was on the beautifully monogrammed stationery of Mary Miles Minter. It reads as follows:

"Dearest: 'I love you—I love you—I love you.'"

"X x x x. Yours always, Mary."

The last "X" was two inches high and was followed by an exclamation point an inch in height.

Mary Miles Minter did not deny authorship of the letter, according to the Examiner.

"I did love William Taylor," she said. "I loved him dearly and tenderly with all the admiration and respect a young girl gives to a man with the poise and culture of Mr. Taylor."

Met Two Years Ago. Taylor and Miss Minter met at Santa Barbara two years ago. He was her director. They later went to New York with the company.

The wealthy New York man who was reported to have left Los Angeles on the day following the killing of Taylor, and who was said to be enamored with one of the motion picture actresses which police have been questioning in connection with the case, was located last night by private detectives.

According to the investigators, he gave an account of himself which they say practically eliminates him from consideration in connection with the case. He was located in a downtown hotel. Interest had centered upon him for several days because he was said to be a rejecter of Taylor. He had been reported to have been infatuated with Taylor.

GOVERNOR SAYS IT'S BLACKMAIL

"Editor and Attorney Got Girl To File Scandal Suit," Russell.

JACKSON, Miss., Feb. 7.—The $100,000 suit filed against Governor Lee M. Russell by Miss Frances Birkhead of New Orleans, alleging seduction, will be called for trial at the May term of federal court. Copies of Miss Birkhead's statement and lengthy affidavits setting forth her alleged relations with the governor were procured by Governor Russell from the court clerk last night, and he was in conference until a late hour with friends and attorneys.

Miss Birkhead is in New Orleans and is said to be a hopeless invalid as a result of two operations.

In a lengthy statement issued last night bitterly denouncing the charges of Miss Birkhead as "an infamous black mail," Governor Russell said that Howard Williams, editor of the Hattiesburg American and John R. Tally, a prominent attorney of that city, have been Miss Birkhead's chief counselors of late.

Mr. Tally issued the following statement: "I never saw Miss Birkhead in my life, never had any communications with her directly or indirectly, and know nothing whatever about the case. The governor has my sincere sympathy."

Mr. Williams, in a statement said: "I saw Miss Birkhead last summer and she told me her story. I did not advise or counsel with her in any way except to tell her that her story could not be handled unless it was made a matter of record in the courts. 'The woman was in destitute circumstances and is in a pitiful physical plight. Further than this, I know nothing of her troubles.'"

LIONS TO VISIT LATA THURSDAY

Higher Morals and Lower Insurance Rates Discussed at Luncheon.

The Lions Club at the semi-monthly luncheon today listened to a report by Wm. L. Whitaker about the industries of Ada, which took-up several of the smaller industries as well as the large ones. The magnitude of the business conducted by some of the industries was a distinct surprise to some of the members.

President C. E. Cunningham announced that the club had been invited to Latta school for luncheon Thursday of this week. Many of the Lions signified their intention of going. They will leave the Chamber of Commerce rooms at 11:45 Thursday and visit this modern consolidated school, which is under the direction of East Central graduates. Not only members of the club, but others are invited to go and meet the patrons of the Latta school.

Mr. Cunningham also urged the business men of the city to support the Normal Annual which will be issued this spring. The Club agreed to take a page advertisement in the publication.

Several other things of a civic nature were discussed. Robert Whitbush spoke of the need for closer censorship of movies. Wm. L. Whitaker, Harmon Ebey and others discussed the insurance situation here and what is required before Ada can get in a higher class and thereby get lower fire insurance rates.

FUNDS TOO SHORT TO COVER COUNTY

So Health Officer Plans To Visit Only Schools Where Conditions Are Bad.

Dr. J. A. Deen, county superintendent of health, stated today that due to the fact that no provision of funds had been made by the last legislature for the conducting of an examination of school children over the county, he would be unable to visit all schools in the forthcoming health crusade.

Only the schools which have contagious or other dangerous diseases will be visited, or schools where it is deemed some attention is vitally necessary, he stated. Funds have been provided for the conducting of the crusade in the city. Every school student here will be given an examination and the report made to the state health department. Those needing medical attention will be looked after.

Dr. Deen's statement in full is as follows:

"I desire to state that the health crusade, which will be waged in the city schools beginning next Monday, will be under the supervision of Supt. Hickman and the city health department and has jurisdiction only in the city of Ada."

"As the last legislature made no appropriation for the purpose of defraying expenses of the county superintendent of health is visiting the rural schools for the purpose of investigating sanitary and health conditions of such schools, I will visit only those schools where an epidemic of infectious or contagious diseases exists. No health certificate issued or signed by any physician other than the county superintendent of health or his appointee, for any rural school of this county, will be recognized by the state and county health departments."

"I regret that I will be unable to visit every school in the county, as I am sure such an examination of the children of our schools is very necessary, not only for the child's benefit that may be affected but for the protection of other children who might through association acquire the same disease, which would later develop into a serious condition."

J. A. DEEN, County Health Superintendent."

BUTLER SOUGHT FOR KILLING OF FILM DIRECTOR

Telegraphic Warrant Issued For Sands, Now in Nevada Town.

POLICE PUSH SEARCH

New Light On Mystery Is Cast By Former Miner, Taylor's Partner.

(By the Associated Press)

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 7.—The police announced today that no warrant on a murder charge has been issued against Edward F. Sands, former butler-secretary, now declared to be the most important witness sought in connection with the mysterious shooting Wednesday night of William Desmond Taylor, noted motion picture director.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 7.—A telegraphic warrant charging Edward F. Sands, alias Edward Fritz Strathmore, former butler to William Desmond Taylor, with the murder of the film director in his apartment here, was issued by the Los Angeles police department late last night and wired to Constable A. B. Berning at Carlin, Nev., according to information received by the Los Angeles Examiner this morning.

The police had taken this action, it was stated, following the receipt of a telegram earlier in the evening from Constable Berning that he had under surveillance there a man whose description was said to answer that of Sands.

A complete description of Sands was telegraphed to Constable Berning, with instructions to take the suspect there into custody, provided he answered the detailed picture of local police.

Took Dancing Lesson. LOS ANGELES, Feb. 7.—The mystery of where William Desmond Taylor passed the time between five and six o'clock last Wednesday afternoon, approximately two hours before he was slain, previously unexplained, was solved here today.

Police detectives learned he had gone to a dance academy for a lesson.

"He was brushing up on some of the old steps," said a woman instructor.

A Man of Sorrow. REDMOND, Calif., Feb. 7.—A man who said he knew William Desmond Taylor in Alaska, an old miner, called "Red" Ashford, now living here, described the film director as a man of sorrow and mystery.

"He was always silent and always sad," said Ashford. "The last time I saw him was just before Christmas when we talked about old days in Alaska."

Was Commissary Clerk.

DAWSON CITY, Yukon Territory, Feb. 7.—Records of the Yukon company indicate that William Desmond Taylor, moving picture director who was found shot dead in his room in Los Angeles recently, added to his multifarious list of trades during his sojourn in the Yukon. In Dawson City he worked as time keeper and commissary clerk from 1908 to 1912. He is remembered as an efficient commissary clerk in several stations of the Yukon Gold company. At claim 76 below, on Bonanza, he is referred to as a record breaker in holding down grub allowances. It is believed that he originally came from England. In the four year period mentioned he was absent from the Yukon one winter when he went to Honolulu with a theatrical company. He returned here later.

Suspect Is Not Sands.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 7.—Sheriff Harris of Elko, Nev., telephoned to the police department here today that the man held at Carlin, Nev., thought to be Edward F. Sands, wanted in connection with the killing of William Desmond Taylor, was not Sands and has given a satisfactory account of his movements which erased all suspicion.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

CHRIST'S BENEDICTION:—Peace I leave with you, my peace I give unto you; not as the world giveth, give I unto you. Let not your heart be troubled, neither let it be afraid.—John 14:27.

A TRAVESTY ON FREE SPEECH.

George Sylvester Vierick, an unregenerate subject of the kaiser with the characteristic impudence of his kind, is again trying to dictate to the American people their choice of U. S. senators. He has published a blacklist of fourteen whom he says must be beaten at all hazards. For the most part these were men who stood up for American rights before and during the war. Every man who at any time showed himself a true American is a target for this companion of the worst there has ever been in kaiserism. He puts his O K on LaFollette, Reed and Johnson who favored the Germans every chance they had and were always hostile to Wilson. The fourteen are in both parties and Herr Vierick says party lines must be disregarded. LaFollette is his ideal and he insists that the Wisconsin voters rally to his support. Vierick launched a magazine in New York at the beginning of the world war devoted to German propaganda and his countrymen committed no atrocity that he did not defend. When the United States entered the war he had to tone down his utterances somewhat, but even then was in the shadow of the penitentiary a time or two. Now that the war is over he rears his head like a snake in the grass and attacks men who stood four-square for Americanism. It is a grim joke on the American system of free speech that creatures of his stripe can live under the protection of the Stars and Stripes and try to dictate to Americans the policy they must pursue. He did all in his power to aid the enemies of this country and would have rejoiced to see the flag of the kaiser hoisted over the national capitol and the statue of Liberty shot from its pedestal by the Hunnish fleet. Failing in that he is trying to influence the people to send pro-Germans to the national congress so that his countrymen may recover through them some of the things lost in the signing of the peace treaty.

Monday's Oklahoman carries a cut of the kaiser, said to be the only likeness of the royal Hun made since he beat a hasty retreat into the Netherlands on that fateful November day. During the days of his glory he was very vain of his looks and kept the cameras clicking. He considered a photo of himself the highest gift he could present to any person he wished to honor. Now he flies into a rage at the sight of a camera and tries to keep out of sight as much as possible. It is no longer the arrogant face bedecked with upturned mustaches that greets the view, but an old man with full white beard and with snowy white hair. The former aspirant to world empire shows the effects of the strain under which he labored during the war and since. In his isolation, shorn of the power he so dearly loved, with every hope blighted, his wife and sharer of his sorrows dead, and one son a suicide, the old man is reaping what he sowed. The law of retribution never fails and he is now paying a small part of it. Only eternity itself is long enough for him to fully expiate the frightful crime of 1914.

On last Tuesday the Home Building and Loan association of Ada ran an advertisement in the News, in which C. H. Rives was quoted in reference to saving. The advertisement was so compelling and the common sense of the appeal so sound that the Chickasha Express reproduced it as an editorial, calling attention to the fact that it was an advertisement in the Ada Evening News. Thus the good work will go on. Probably other newspapers will reproduce it, and far and wide it will cause men, women and children to think and save. Thus while the Home Building and Loan association of Ada is boosting its own business, it is sending worthy messages to thousands throughout the Southwest. If you have forgotten what the advertisement is, it will be worth your while to look the paper up and read it again.

We have never been any too well impressed with the Oklahoma system of issuing bonds to cover deficits. Bonded indebtedness is supposed to be incurred only by a vote of the people, but through this method they have nothing to say about the creation of the deficit and when the time comes for a hearing it is seldom that any protest is heard. The interest and sinking fund requirements are stretched out over a period of twenty years, which means that the people eventually pay twice the original debt. If an emergency arises and it is absolutely necessary to spend more than the current year, it should be taken up in a year or two through an additional levy. Certainly it is not good business, except for the bond buyers, to handle it as it is under the present system.

Under the terms of the anti-lynching bill passed by the house and for which Congressman Pringle voted a county in which a lynching occurs will be fined $10,000 to be paid to the family of the victim. No provision is made for the white woman some black demon attacked and for which he met a sudden end at the hands of enraged neighbors.

No system of wireless has yet been devised that is swift enough to overtake a lie when it is once started on its way.

SPEAKING OF "FARM DEPRESSION"

The Fortn of the Press

Getting From Behind the Bars.
(Wichita Daily Times)

A canary is a plucky little fellow. He wasn't meant to sing in a cage, you know; the "soul" in him was arranged for warm sunshine, sapphire skies and a tropical wilderness of green things. But before the soul of him was arranged for environment, it was predestined to music, and he goes right on fulfilling his joyous destiny regardless.

Some months ago a well-to-do woman of a western city was reading a small prison publication, and came across these lilywhite beautiful lines:

Primrose time in Ireland,
And me in bolts and bars;
Meadow sweet with buds a-break,
And miles of jaunting cars.
But stay awhile—the soul of me
Has gone to join the pageantry,
I'm drinking in the music of the lark
Beneath the stars.

Springtime and the shamrocks,
So tender green a-roo
Every colleen in the land
And gossip on the woo—
This priest to shrieve me of all sin,
The soul of me gone journeyin'
To where the Irish April skies
Put on their robe of blue.

To make a long story short, she investigated, and within another few months John F. Glynn, Irish poet and fine fellow generally, was released from prison after incarceration for a several year term for forgery, while under the influence of drink. John Glynn wasn't happy in prison, and he hadn't been in the habit of getting drunk; it all came out in the investigation; the soul of him must have suffered a good deal of torture before it forced itself to get from behind the bars and "join the pageantry" of happiness outside. But he went on singing. Before his spirit had been predestined to the decent environment of a man, it had been predestined to sing songs of Irish sweetness—and it went right on singing, behind the bars.

A greater man than John Glynn, long before his time, said, "I make environment." But it hasn't been the easiest thing in the world for everybody to understand. It has a sort of high-brow sound that some of us don't get. But it doesn't take a master intellect to get John Glynn and a child could see the message of the canary, as easy as it can run the vacuum sweeper or the electric washer. What all three of them meant, and still mean, is that the final accounting demanded from every human being will be, not whether surroundings were conducive to the development of their particular soul, but whether their soul went on and developed regardless of surroundings; whether it kept right on unfolding behind the bars, in other words.

Stop Buying "Moonshine."
(Fort Worth Record)
When any person connives with law breakers he also becomes a law breaker; when a person knows of a felony and conceals it from officers of the law he is compounding a felony. When a person buys whisky, knowing it is against the law for it to be sold and knowing too, that the whisky probably was unlawfully distilled, he is as guilty as the bootlegger or the maker of the moonshine.

of his own; if he has made lawfully and honestly the money with which he buys the whisky he should have control over his desires, and doubtless has except when his taste for liquor is aroused.

But is it the desire for liquor or the wish to violate a law with which, in the spirit of argument he is not in accord? Many of those who now buy from bootleggers would not care for or touch whisky or other spiritous liquors from preference when it was sold openly. But when a law has been enacted prohibiting its sale, a law that was fought out fairly before all the people and enacted in accordance with the expressed will of a majority of them, but which he did not support because he argued it would violate the freedom given him by the constitution, he purposely and avowedly goes out of his way and encourages an appetite foreign to his desires just to put the law to naught.

Every law of the land is founded on the constitution of the country. Where there has been any doubt, the question has been threshed out before the supreme court, and surely the opinion of that august body of the finest jurists in the country—and the most profound thinkers of the world is entitled to the respect of every law-abiding citizen.

Many persons who buy moonshine whisky may not appreciate they are violating the law. They know the moonshine maker is not paying any revenue to the government and is distilling in opposition to the law, and they know the bootlegger is selling contrary to the law and if apprehended will be punished severely, but they do not stop to think that they, too, are violating the law, perhaps compounding a felony, when they buy. It is time they did stop and think. It is time they remember that the laws are enacted for the observance of all and not for those, and those only, who wish to obey them. That is the argument of the bandit, of the highwayman, of the burglar, of the yeoman and of every other wilful violator of the law. The man who buys moonshine whisky puts himself on a par with all other law breakers and is no more entitled to the continued respect of his fellow citizens than is any other law breaker.

LAKES-TO-OCEAN PROJECT MAY GO OVER IS BELIEF

DULUTH, Minn., Feb. 6.—Satisfaction that the international joint commission could not have found other than that the lakes-to-the-ocean project is feasible; belief that congress, convinced by the west's unshakable determination to gain its rights, will authorize the improvement, and confidence that the alleged "eastern interests" said to be fighting the scheme, will be swept aside in the ensuing wave of governmental approval, is contained in a statement made at headquarters of the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence Tide-water Association here. The statement followed announcement from Washington that the state department would submit to congress the report of the international joint commission.

"We have known for months," the statement continues, "that the favorable report was coming, even since the hearings, when the engineers submitted their findings. Still, it is good news to these eighteen states handed together in the association to promote the interests of this project. This news came as a relief after unfavorable delays, and in the face of other delays that have been avoided. It is a culmination we have been working for these two years.

"Formation of a legislative program by the friends of this project in congress will be eagerly expected. In the main, the course is clearly marked; details have to be agreed upon.

"It means a fight. Twenty-five years ago the interests which are trying to hold the country to a single gateway, were fighting this same movement on the ground that the Erie canal was large enough for our needs. They urged the west to wait till they deepened the canal from seven feet to nine—it is now almost twelve—and they won for twenty-five years. They will try to put us off for another generation.

"Opponents of the seacut say we are attacking New York, when we really are fighting against economic waste. We believe that it won't hurt New York to have the country grow, that it will injure New York if the west is not allowed to grow."

M'ANNALLY GETS INTO CITY CAMPAIGN

A. T. McAnnally, well known business man of Ada, is announcing his candidacy for the office of Commissioner of Public Works and Property subject to the election of the city primary on March 21.

Mr. McAnnally has hundreds of friends in the city and county who say that he will make an efficient officer if given an opportunity. He was principally reared in this county, growing from a boy on a farm north of the city. He farmed for some time and then moved into town and went into the butcher and grocery business.

He was proprietor of the OK Market on West Main for a considerable time and then was in business on West Twelfth. In all his business experience, he has been successful and has made friends by rendering good service and being courteous at all times.

Mr. McAnnally is particular anxious to get good streets for Ada. He is in favor of paving where the property owners want it. At other places he intends to try to get gravel and thus make a system of streets that the citizens will not be ashamed of. At all times, he says he will be fair and give the best service possible.

The water system too will be given the closest attention and every effort will be made to keep a high pressure at all times.

The candidate will do no mud slinging. He is asking for the office on his own merits and his own dependability.

BOARDS START ON TASK OF PUTTING PACTS IN FORCE

(By the Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—Although the Washington conference had itself gone out of existence today, with several of the delegations, including the British, already on their homeward journeys, many of its decisions, particularly those relating to the far east, still remained to be applied and given effect by the boards and commission authorized for the purpose.

In addition, the conference so far as its naval decisions are concerned, provided virtually for its reconvening eight years hence, when representatives of the five powers which joined in the naval agreement will meet again to discuss naval armaments, and it also authorized a special five power commission to revise the rules of warfare.

The only direct continuing function which remained after its wind-up was the secretary's general office. This had been charged merely with the final duty of compiling and printing corrected minutes of the plenary and committee sessions, and also act as a clearing house through which the various governments will inform each other in the future as to their existing commitments to China. It is expected to conclude both of these in the very near future and then close its doors.

WHITE HOUSE DINNER ARRANGED FOR TONIGHT

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—Another White House dinner, to consider the administration's legislative program, has been arranged for tonight with members of the senate and house of representatives republican leaders in attendance.

IN SOCIETY

Song of the Marshland.

Wierdly, the calls of the cormorant Merge with the cry of the whip-poor-will;

Swiftly, sly wolves, with their wander-chant, Range to the sedges, and far as the hill.

Far-away, beagles bay, Over the edges of day.

Baying and baying on evening's fall, Sounding the brake that is kissed by its pall.

Yellow of marigolds sprinkle the ferns Scattered along the mossy turns—Beech-tree boughs

Beech-house.

Many a vagrant, wandering brood; While insects are crooning,

And gaily are mooning, Mooning and crooning under the shedding cottonwood.

—Welborn Hope.

The reason Ironized Yeast brings such amazing results is because it not only contains just the right amount of all three essential vitamins, but in addition contains a type of yeast which has positively no equal as a reconstructive agent—a yeast which is cultured expressly for medicinal purposes, and which is entirely different from the yeast found in ordinary "yeast tablets."

But even more important than this is the fact that this yeast has been ironized—or treated through a scientific process with a special form of easily assimilated organic iron, similar to the iron found in spinach. When yeast is ironized in this manner it is found that results are not only more permanent, but are secured just twice as quickly!

Bootleggers Using Limousine To Sell Illicit Wares Now

(By the Associated Press)

OKLAHOMA CITY, Feb. 7.—Bootleggers in Oklahoma City have adopted limousines in which to deliver their contraband wares, according to local police. Several arrests have been made lately of persons riding in costly motor cars and liquor has been found, the officers declare. Carrying the idea still farther, the liquor dealers have enlisted the services of women. The police say they are certain liquor is being delivered in Oklahoma City by female bootleggers who are driven by negro chauffeurs in limousines.

The old fashioned "booze car," officers say, was usually a dilapidated car of low price. But this has been supplanted by a well kept machine in which there rides a man or woman whose appearance of gentility makes officers hesitate to detain them for a liquor search, it is said.

MONEY RUINING COLLEGE SPORT

Growth of Professionalism Practices Undermining School Athletics.

(By the Associated Press)
MADISON, Wis., Feb. 7.—The professional spirit growing within as well as without colleges "in commercializing competitive football, basketball and baseball is doing much to undermine athletics and unless stopped is bound to cause serious damage to college sport," Coach T. E. Jones, director of athletics at the University of Wisconsin said today in a statement.

Coach Jones believes that the small colleges which are members of no organized conference, newspapers who urge more leniency in applying the amateur rule, and extended playing schedules beyond the regular season are all working to commercialize sport and bring about its decline in colleges.

"Between amateur and professional athletics there is a gulf that cannot be spanned," the coach said. "The ideals and ends of the two are as far apart as the poles. The athlete who chooses one must give up the other."

"If professionalism were to creep into college athletics it would rob the game of its educational value and its ideals leaving no good reason for a continued existence of these sports."

Small College Problem.
"Chief among the influences working to the detriment of intercollegiate activities are those small colleges which do not belong to any organized conference, who have no freshman rule, who are free lances and play from one end of the country to the other without regard for time of schedules. Standard schools who schedule these colleges are doing much to damage athletics."

"Some newspapers have done considerable damage in trying to mould public opinion toward more freedom in amateur sport through permitting summer baseball. Some of these papers, probably unintentionally, have caused harm by giving more space and prominence to professional sport events than to amateur college athletics."

"There is also the evil of extending football schedules past their season where the commercial idea is of course prominent. All of these things tend to damage college sport in the eyes of the public."

SOONERS RETURN FROM TRIP WITH STANDING SAME

NORMAN, Feb. 7.—(Special)—The Sooners returned to their Missouri Valley conference invasion of the season which carried them into the den of the Missouri Tigers and to Washington at St. Louis. The Sooners broke even on this trip by winning over Washington and losing to Missouri which does not change their standing in the conference at .500 percent with four victories and a like number of losses. The Sooners defeated the Pikers 20 to 17 and lost to Missouri 46 to 27 after leading the conference champions for the first half. The defeat at Missouri, although by a good margin, is considered a good showing viewed from Missouri's terrible slaughter of her conference rivals in the six other games she has won. Missouri leads the conference with seven straight victories, all of which have been comparatively easy.

Oklahoma makes her second invasion of the conference this week end when she goes to Mathattan, Friday, February 10, for the second game with the Kansas Aggies, and Saturday, February 11, to Lawrence for the second game with Kansas. Oklahoma lost to Kansas February 1 and defeated the Kansas Aggies January 20.

Coach Hugh V. McDermott indicated that he was well pleased with the work of the Sooners abroad last week but he is not content. He intends to give the Sooners four days of intensive work this week before the Kansas Aggie game and hopes to bring home two victories this week.

The Sooners have played half their conference games and retain an even break. If they can hold this percentage they are practically assured a finish in the first division of the nine-team conference with third or second place a probability. Missouri appears without serious opposition for the title this year since she has defeated every team in the conference.

O. U. Enrollment 2,660.
NORMAN, Feb. 7.—(Special)—The total enrollment of the University of Oklahoma for the second semester reached 2,660 students Monday, February 6, one week after the opening of the semester, according to figures compiled by George Wadsack, assistant registrar. This figure shows a decrease from the enrollment of the first semester of 283 and an increase over last year's enrollment at this date of 147.

O. C. C. Team Comes To Meet Thompson's Men Here Tomorrow

The Oklahoma City College basketball team is coming to Ada for a game with East Central basketball Wednesday night of this week, Coach Thompson announced today. This game was postponed two weeks ago on account of the smallpox ban placed on all games here.

The Oklahoma City men are in about the same condition as the Ada men. Thompson expects his team to win, however, as he has already defeated that team once this year on the Oklahoma City court.

Eight o'clock has been set for the start. Warner, Newton, Little, Evans, Chism, Crawford and Harrison probably will make up the local squad.

Cardinal Pitchers Get First Workout In Texas Camp Soon

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 7.—The Cardinal pitchers are scheduled to hold their first workout at the spring training camp at Orange, Texas, Feb. 19. Sixteen pitchers and five catchers depart for the camp Feb. 17.

Branch Rickey, manager of the team, announced that the following pitchers would report at the camp about a week earlier than other members of the team: Sherdel, Bailey, Doak, Haines, Pertica, Pifer, Goodwin, Riviere, Reinhardt, North, Fuller, Walker, Barfoot, Barnes, Benton and Montgomery.

The catchers will be coaches Joe Sugden and Bunt Shotton, Roy Thomas, and Frank Shaughnessy, manager of the Syracuse team of the International League who will assist in training the pitchers.

Thirteen games with four American League clubs in the South feature the St. Louis Nationals' spring exhibition schedule. They meet the Browns, Yankees, Indians and Athletics.

MEAT CAUSE OF KIDNEY TROUBLE

Take Salts to Flush Kidneys If Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers.

If you must have your meat every day, eat it, but flush your kidneys with salts occasionally, says a noted authority who tells us that meat forms uric acid which almost paralyzes the kidneys in their efforts to expel it from the blood. They become sluggish and weaken, then you suffer with a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sour, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine gets cloudy, full of sediment, the channels often get sore and irritated, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night.

To neutralize these irritating acids to cleanse the kidneys and flush off the body's urinous waste get four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy here; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. The famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink. (adv)

BARTLESVILLE—T. S. DeArman, farmer living near here, is a firm believer in sowing oats in January. For the past fifty years, he says, he has been following that policy. He did not discontinue the plan when he came to Oklahoma sixteen years ago and since then has sustained but one crop failure, he declares.

MID-WINTER GOLF DRAWS MANY CHAMPIONS TO VANCOUVER AND VICTORIA COURSES

Many noted United States golfers are following the example of Jock Hutchison, British open champion, and Jim Barnes, United States open champion, in starting their winter golf tour at Vancouver and Victoria. Jock and Jim visited Victoria in December, playing thirty-six holes matches in both places, and were surprised to be confronted by green grass and no snow so near Christmas. They won their first match at Shaughnessy Heights Golf Club, in Vancouver and were beaten by Dave Black and Phil Taylor, two clever local professionals, at Victoria.

Winter golfers who seek novelty and visit Vancouver and Victoria on their way to California and southern golf resorts, have an opportunity to enjoy the wonderful scenery of the Canadian Pacific

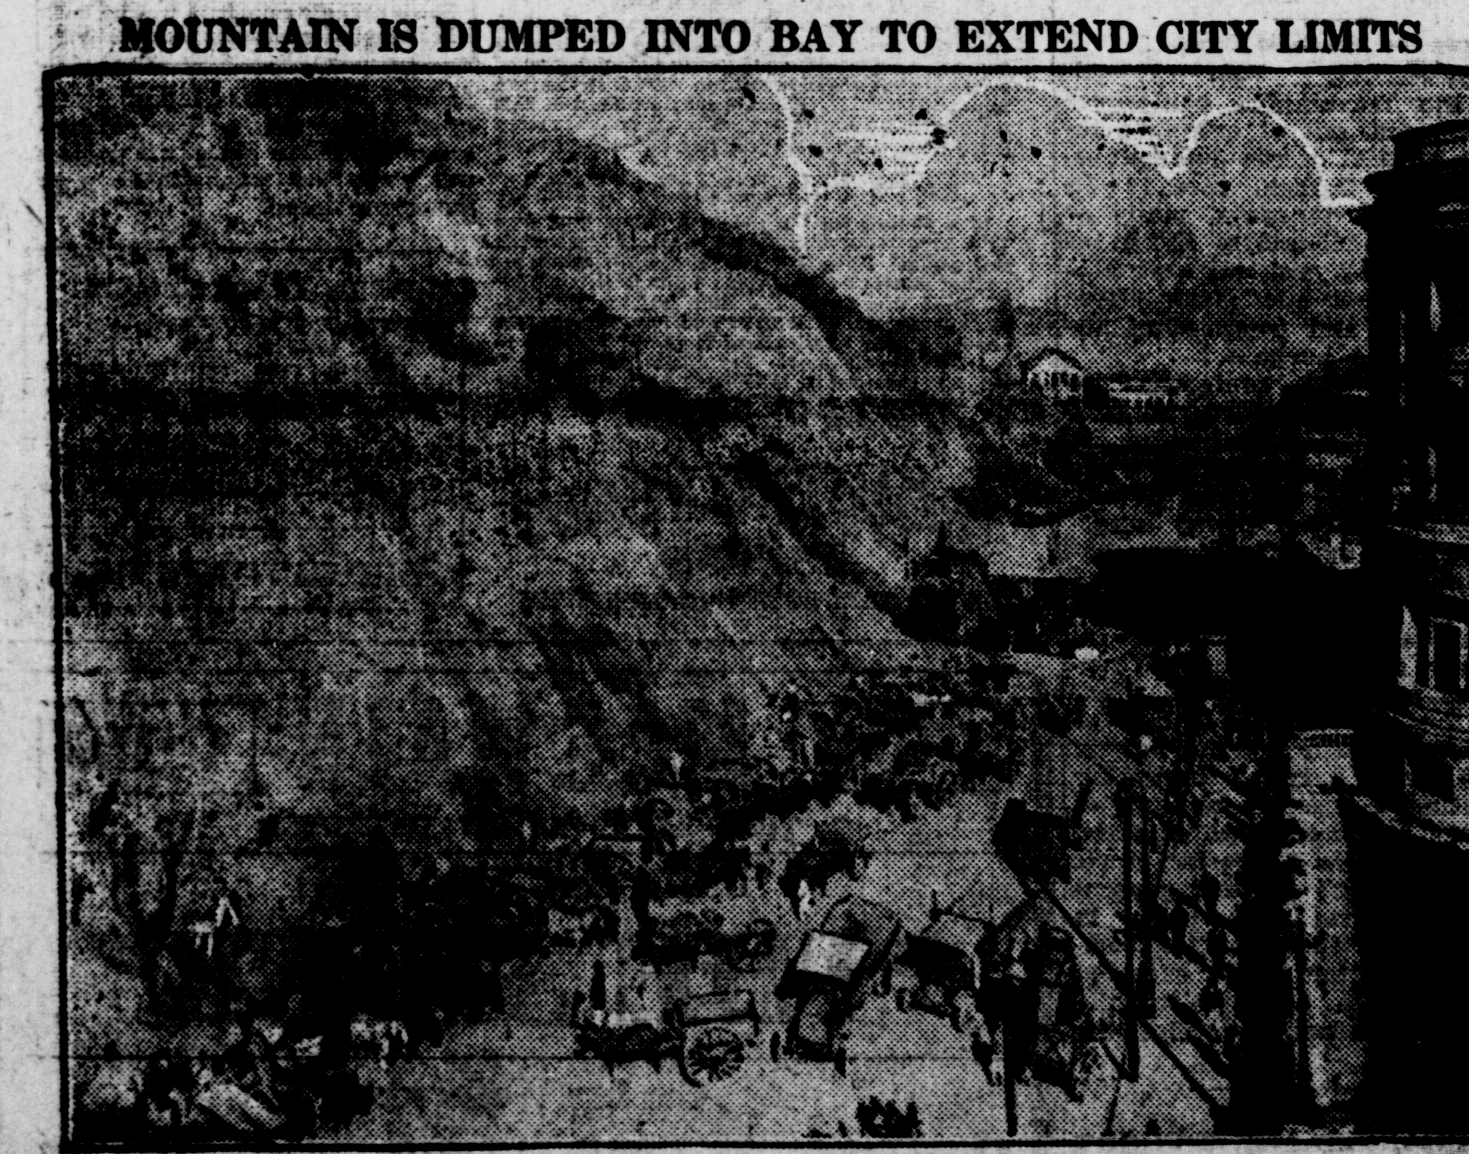

24 PICKED BOWLERS, NATION'S BEST, MEET IN TOURNEY

CHICAGO, Feb. 7.—Twenty-four picked bowlers, nation's best according to a compilation of tourney and match averages, will compete in the first annual world's classic tournament here Feb. 9 to 25. The contestants have been selected from a large field, which was narrowed to fifty and later to twenty-four.

The selected competitors will meet each in a series of five games, making 115 games for each of them. A combination of total pins for the 115 games and the number of games won will count in the final rating. A point system of an accumulative nature has been devised for the tournament. The man with the highest standing at the end of the tournament will be declared the world's champion.

In the past, the winner of the all-events in the American Bowling Congress tournament has been considered the leader in the bowling world. There is a certain element of luck in rolling a few games and a man may roll below or above his normal average. The marathon of 115 games, which will last for sixteen consecutive days, is believed to be by the tournament committee a test which will determine the actual bowling champion.

Three stars are believed to be outstanding contenders for the title.

Array of rocks and teams eating into side of mountain at Rio de Janeiro. The colossal feat of moving a mountain is being accomplished at Rio de Janeiro, Brazil. The mountain, Morro de Castello, located in the heart of the city, is being carted by mule team and washed by hydraulic dredges into Rio de Janeiro bay. The earth thus dumped into the bay will extend the city limits three miles. The spot levelled will add about sixty-six blocks to the city.

Basketball Tourney To Draw Many Teams Here March 3 and 4

Plans are about complete for the East Central district basketball tournament to be held here March 3 and 4. Several schools have already announced their intention of entering teams. Many will have teams contesting for honors in both girls and boys sections.

Contests will be in the college gym. The schedule cannot be worked out until the schools have finished registering, which will be completed on the morning of March 3. The championship games will be played on the night of March 4, and the preliminary, first and second semi-finals and finals will follow in their order.

Wewoka girls won the district championship last year, while Francis high school boys won in their section. For the most part the semi-finals without having a hard road to follow. It is expected to be more interesting this year, as last year was the first time the tournament had been held.

TROTTER HORSE FARM IS RAISING CHICKENS

LEXINGTON, Ky., Feb. 7.—Patchen Wilkes, one of the most noted trotting horse farms in the Bluegrass, soon is to be metamorphosed into a chicken farm, according to a recent announcement by W. E. D. Stokes of New York, the owner.

Chicken raising, according to Mr. Stokes, is more profitable than trotting horse breeding. Mr. Stokes and Peter Duryea bought the farm thirty-five years ago and named it Patchen Wilkes after the famous trotter they acquired at that time.

Mr. Stokes' Kentucky estate first came into prominence in the trotting horse world thru Peter the Great's performance. Patchen Wilkes soon became the mecca of visiting horsemen and during its thirty-five years' existence it has produced more Futurity winners than any other farm its size in the United States.

Some of the Newer Opportunities In Teaching.
Emergency education is needed now, just as much if not more than in war times. The impression, which prevails in some places, that there is no longer a shortage of teachers is erroneous. It is true that the average condition is slightly better than last year, due to the marked improvement in states where salaries have been greatly increased. The number of schools without teachers is still very large and there is a still larger number of schools with teachers who are incompetent. The number in the estimated shortage and below standing is placed at nearly 100,000. The situation is serious and the demand for well prepared and thoroughly competent teachers will be very great for years to come.

In no other field of endeavor are the opportunities so great as in that of teaching. In other professions there is a surplus of competent men and women. In the labor world thousands are out of employment and are seeking work. Not so in the teaching business. Never was the call so great for well prepared teachers.

There are many opportunities in the teaching field for one to make a choice of some particular line in which he is especially interested, or for which he is peculiarly adapted, or for which he is a teacher shortage in all the various avenues of education.

The rural teacher is sadly in need of well trained and competent teachers, in fact many schools in the rural districts are closed.

In the field of agriculture there is a demand for men who cannot only teach, but can act as principals of schools. Here is one of the big opportunities for young men, for the teaching of agriculture is assuming a place of great importance both in the state and nation.

Perhaps nowhere is the shortage of teachers more acute than in that of manual arts, or vocational and industrial education. Last year our school had far more calls for teachers of manual arts than it could possibly supply. Last year the graduates in manual arts were placed in positions paying salaries varying from $1,500 to $2,000. Men who have had a teaching experience command, of course, higher salaries. Here again, both state and nation are calling for the well prepared teacher to help carry forward the national scheme of manual training, vocational and industrial education.

Teaching is one of the greatest of professions. We must have better schools, broader education and a more useful citizenship. With teaching placed on the same level as other lines of endeavor, with salaries substantially increasing, and the splendid opportunity the East Central Teachers' College, and other institutions of higher education are offering, let us hope that all our schools will in time be supplied with well prepared and thoroughly competent teachers.

MUSKOGEE—Plans virtually are complete here for the erection of the Oklahoma soldiers' memorial hospital which is to cost $500,000. The project has been combined with a city hospital bond issue so that the site, light and water connections and other items will be contracted for without cost to the state.

TEACHERS PILE UP HIGH SCORE

Cement Plant Deluged By Rapid Fire Offensive; One Game Ignored.

Effects of recent vaccinations are still being felt by the six basketball teams combining the city league, as was evidenced by the showing made in games played at the college gym last night. Not only were the players in bad shape but the crowd of spectators was small and interest was lacking.

Ragged floor work, poor guarding and poorer goal shooting featured the high school-battery game, while the Teachers College easily smothered the Cement Plant, 35 to 7. This was the only game which was allowed to go on the league records because both the battery and high school teams were in bad condition. Several men from the News and Business College teams were needed to fill places on the two strings.

Thompson used his second raters with the Cement Plant during the first half, but put in Newton and Warner of the first string for the last few minutes. Miller, new man from the Konawa high school squad, was given his first workout on the local court last night. He made a good showing and will be good material for the school as soon as he becomes acquainted with the men. His ability to play will in all probability win him a berth on the second string this year and put him in line for a candidacy on the varsity squad in '23.

The Cement cagers were not in form and continued their slump which started just before the small-pox orders were issued. The two weeks' holiday had not helped them, and their guards could not hold a running offense of the teachers, especially in the last half. The score in the high school-battery practice game was 40 to 10 for the battery. White for the battery was given his first workout last night and will probably be a good addition to the squad.

The high school and business college teams are scheduled to play Friday night, but it is expected that one of the two postponed games with the battery will be played at this time. Best places in the league standing are becoming more difficult to hold and it is expected that as the schedule draws to a close fighting for honors will warm up perceptibly. Only three more nights are on the league schedule, after which all teams will play individual games or disband.

WE'RE COLD TO REFORMS

We have not had in our time a President who was a business man or who had close acquaintance with business methods. The Chief Executives have, for the most part, not been executives as that term is now understood. Anything but. They regarded the government machine as one regards a hired motor car—a piece of mechanism in which to get somewhere, and with no thought of its power-transmission system or economy of operation.

Mr. Taft did sense the fact that he was at the head of an organization whose activities are almost as varied as those of the entire business world. Mr. Harding, I believe, shares this feeling.

As Mr. Taft pointed out, this great organization has never been studied in detail as one piece of administrative mechanism. No comprehensive effort has been made, until very recently, to list its many activities or to group them in such a way as to present a clear picture of what the government is doing. No satisfactory statement has ever been published of the financial transactions of the government as a whole. With large interests at stake congress and the executive have never had all the information which should be currently available if the most intelligent direction is to be given to the daily national business.

Congress, the President and the administrative officers have been attempting to discharge their duties without full information as to the agencies through which the work of the government is being performed. In the past, services, agencies, bureaus, what not, have been created one by one as exigencies have seemed to demand, with little or no reference to any scheme of organization of the government as a whole.

Mr. Taft pointed out all this and made an earnest effort to change it. With what result? Why, just exactly none. Congress was cold. The public—meaning you and me—was colder. We didn't take any interest in the project, and therefore congress politely yawned it away into the tall grass and out of sight. Mr. Taft was given enough money to employ an efficiency and economy commission and to make inquiry "into the methods of transacting the public business of the executive departments and other government establishments."

The inquiry was made and the changes recommended, but nothing has ever been done about it. This economy and efficiency commission was very conservative and cautious. It took Mr. Taft's view that the problem of good administration is not one that can be solved at one time. It is a continuously present one. This commission, made up of excellent men, suggested that the revenue-cutter service be abolished and its activities be taken over by other services. It was estimated that by so doing a saving of not less than $1,000,000 could be made.

Another report recommended that the lighthouse and life-saving services be administered by a single bureau instead of as at that time, by two bureaus located in different departments. It was estimated that this consolidation would result in a saving of not less than $100,000 yearly.

The abolition of the returns office of the interior department was recommended, at an estimated direct saving of about $25,000 a year, in addition to a large indirect economy in the reduction of work to be performed in the several offices.

The consolidation of the six auditing offices of the treasury and the inclusion in the auditing system of the seven naval officers who audited customs accounts at the principal ports was urged. The change was expected to produce an immediate saving of at least $135,000 yearly.

From this modest start other changes and reforms and savings were to be made.

But we weren't interested in the high cost of government or the high cost of living eleven years ago. Mr. Taft didn't get a rise out of us. He didn't have much of a pull with congress, either, poor man, and all his inquiry went for nothing as far as any action was concerned.

He and his commission did bring out and establish, however, certain facts and conditions. It was a trustworthy and competent investigation as far as it went. That is something to the good.

There is a patent disposition in congress now to take the whole problem of the routine administrative processes of the government under consideration and see how best to improve them. Whether anything really worth while will come out of it will depend entirely on the degree of interest you display. If you will take the trouble to show that you know that the national business is mismanaged and costs too much, and that you are tired of it, there will be action.

MANY UNITS TO BE PRESENT AT O. E. A. MEETING

(By the Associated Press)
OKLAHOMA CITY, Feb. 7.—When the state convention of the Oklahoma Education association opens its business session here February 10, the second day of its three day convention, there will be represented 76 of the 85 units comprising the organization, thus revealing the rapid growth of the association since its reorganization three years ago.

According to the constitution of the association, every school system or educational institution in the state employing 150 or more teachers comprises a local unit of the organization. There are 85 of these units and all business of the association is carried on by an assembly composed of representatives of these units. Not all units, however, have representatives, it being provided that only those units which have 70 per cent of their members enrolled in the association can be represented. Each unit entitled to a voice in the assembly has one representative.

13,676 Are Members.
Records at the headquarters of the association in the state capital here indicate that there are now 13,676 teachers in the state who are members of the state organization. Inasmuch as the membership totals are figured for the fiscal year ending July 1, rather than the calendar year, officials of the association expect to record an increase in the membership over these figures before the year's total is announced. Records in the office of the secretary of state reveal that there are 14,549 recorded teachers in the state.

When the education association was reorganized three years ago there were 11,000 teachers in the state who became members of the new association. On July 1 of last year the figure had grown to 12,500. A gain since that of more than 1000 members has been made.

According to M. A. Nash, secretary of the association, the Oklahoma-organization has more teachers affiliated with it than that of any other state, and ranked second last year at the convention of the National Education association in Des Moines, Ia., in the percentage of teachers in the state enrolled. Oklahoma was also ahead of eighteen other states in affiliation with the national association, he added.

Mr. Nash announced that railroad round-trip rates of one and one-half fares would be in effect on all railroads for the convention.

M. M. Harwell, Katy agent, accompanied by his daughter, Sybil, went to Oklahoma City yesterday afternoon and returned to Ada last night with the body of Mr. Harwell's brother, Sam T. Harwell, an Oklahoma City switchman who died about 1:30 Monday morning as the result of injuries received about midnight Sunday when he was caught between two cars. Mrs. M. M. Harwell and two other daughters joined her husband and Sybil here last night and the entire family accompanied the body to their old home in Naples, Texas, for burial.

Bob Ford says he has investigated the boll weevil situation thoroughly and as a result is so firmly convinced that they are all dead that he will pay $5.00 to any one who brings him a genuine boll weevil. The weevil must be alive, of course, for he says he can find lots of dead ones.

R. B. Chaffin, East Fourteenth street, Ada, reports getting 498 eggs from his flock of between 35 and 40 White Leghorn hens during the month of January. I don't know how that compares with the record of other flocks, but would like to hear from others. Let us know just what is being done in Pontotoc county, anyway.

Dr. Breco is preparing to sow 50 acres in sweet clover. On one of his places he has 30 acres of alfalfa and with the clover he will plant expects to have pasture for a big drove of hogs. He already has a good start of registered and by way of handling a larger number will put 100 acres under hog wire.

Speaking of clover here is how they manage it in Kansas:

"While on annual leave in Kansas, I visited a farmer raising from 100 to 150 acres of sweet clover each year. He says his method is to sow about 15 pounds of seed to the acre in February or March on his wheat land. He cuts his wheat and pastures the sweet clover that fall and next spring cuts a crop of hay, then lets it seed, saves a seed crop, plows it up and puts it back to wheat that same fall. He says the increased yield of grain following sweet clover is worth all it costs and he is building up his land that has been farmed for 40 years by this method. Last year he had a poor stand on a worn out piece of land, 12 acres, and it kept 16 cows, 2 heifers and 1 horse all summer, then made a good crop of seed besides. Farmers over Kansas are spreading straw over their wheat land now when they have nothing else to do. They say it gives good results and pays the well in better yields.—Dan Diehl, District Agent."

Mrs. J. M. Taylor is reported sick today at her home 401 South Townsend avenue.

The Man Who Snubbed Fortune

"In 1813 your great grandfather, standing on the site of the Flat-Iron Building with the price of Broadway from Twenty-second street to Long Acre Square jingling in his pocket, cursed the "luck" that denied him the chance to get in on the ground floor of New York real estate.

In 1860 your grandfather could have bought half the loop district of Chicago for less than you can purchase a suburban building lot.

Opportunity hasn't missed a working day since the first plat was laid out in home sites. There's no particular time nor place for success.

Every man everywhere meets fortune. Every day looks her full in the face and snubs her half a dozen times between dawn and sunset.

Tomorrow your neighbor will start to climb on a ladder which you could have mounted yesterday.

Fate hasn't neglected you—Providence has no pets. Whenever the clock ticks somebody stoops in a crowd and picks up a purse over which a throng has walked for hours.

Every morning the patent office receives specifications of an invention that thousands had previously thought out, but lacked the enterprise to work out.

Prosperity is not an evidence of superiority, but rather of observation and common sense and persistence.

The fact that you pay rent doesn't mean that you are of an inferior calibre to your landlord—you probably began with a better endowment of brains, but he used his mind to better advantage.

There isn't an organization in town which does not number on its salary list at least one wage-earner who could give cards and spades to his chief had he given himself a square deal and played the winning hand when destiny gave him his turn.

There's mighty little difference in the make-up of those who win and those who lose.

Will and imagination are the great divisors of society."
